NAZI INFILTRATION INTO SYRIA PROCEEDING: ABETZ BACK IN PARIS WITH MORE BERLIN PROPOSALS

Catroux Is Now In Haifa For Conference With de Gaulle And General Maitland-Wilson

WHILE THE GERMAN INFILTRATION INTO SYRIA GOES STEADILY FORWARD BY LAND, SEA AND AIR, HERR OTTO ABETZ, GERMAN AMBASSADOR TO VICHY, HAS RETURNED TO PARIS FROM BERLIN WITH STILL MORE PROPOSALS FOR FRANCO-GERMAN COLLABORATION, STATES A REUTER REPORT FROM LONDON.

There is little news from Vichy owing to rigorous censorship especially of reports concerning collaboration between France and Germany.

ADMIRAL DARLAN IS EXPECTED TO RETURN TO PARIS SOON TO EXPEDITE A FORMAL AGREEMENT.

General Weygand, who is now in charge of a general scheme for the defence of the Vichy empire, has postponed his return to North Africa from Vichy until tomorrow.

Meanwhile GENERAL CATROUX, Free French Commander-in-Chief in the Middle East, is now in Haifa to meet GENERAL DE GAULLE, Leader of the Free French Movement, and they will confer with GENERAL SIR HENRY MAITLAND-WILSON, Commander-in-Chief of the British forces in Palestine.

It is explained in London that the R.A.F. bombing of an oil dump at Beirut is a natural development of the British Government's declared policy of taking measures on the spot against German aircraft using Syrian airports as bases for the purposes of attacking British forces.

In spite of denials by Berlin and Vichy, there are persistent rumours from reliable sources that Germans have been landed from the sea at Latakia from commandeered shipping.

AVIATION CORPS

An Ankara report even suggests that the personnel landed at Latakia have proved to be members of aviation engineering corps with full equipment and anti-aircraft guns.

This Ankara dispatch, if true, it is pointed out, shows that Syria is rapidly becoming a MAJOR BASE FOR OPERATIONS BY THE GERMAN AIR FORCE and, perhaps, the German Army.

Meanwhile, dispatches from the United States provide evidence that if the British forces were to take steps in Syria she will have the complete approval of United States opinion.

The BALTIMORE SUN says that if Britain has to accept the risk of French action in order to prevent the Germans from gaining an important and perhaps decisive advantage in Syria, Frenchmen have only their own Government to blame for the strategy.

COASTAL TARGETS ATTACKED

LONDON, June 5 (Reuter).—British aircraft continue to attack enemy shipping and coastal targets in occupied territory.

An Air Ministry communiqué today says that during yesterday's operations, a supply vessel of about five thousand tons was hit and set on fire off the Norwegian coast.

Zeebrugge harbour was also attacked.

Two British bombers are missing from these operations.

Other bombers attacked shipping and docks at Boulogne. During patrols over the Channel, an enemy bomber and three fighters were destroyed.

Two British fighters are missing from these operations.

DAYLIGHT ATTACK

A daylight attack on Zeebrugge was made yesterday by the R.A.F. and many bombs were seen to burst on the mole.

A ship of 300 tons was blown clean out of the water by a direct hit, says the Air Ministry news service.

RICH AMERICAN DEAD

NEW YORK, June 5 (Reuter).—The death from pneumonia is announced of Mr. Arthur Curtiss James, one of America's 12 richest men.

Mr. James' investments were once estimated at $350,000,000.

JAPANESE CABINET MEETING

The Japanese Cabinet met yesterday morning in Tokyo and there were present the chiefs of the military and Navy. Mr. Matsuo, Foreign Minister, later had a conference with the Service leaders and the War Minister reported to the Emperor.

Syrian Situation Wrapped In Obscurity—Murray

"THE SYRIAN POSITION TODAY IS AS IT WAS YESTERDAY WRAPPED IN OBSCURITY. The little we know about it is based only on rumours and contradictory reports," said MAJOR ALLEN MURRAY when he broadcast from London yesterday.

"General Dentz says that no Germans have arrived in Syria but from various signs and indications we believe that quite a lot of them have. WE HAVE NOT FORGOTTEN GEN. DENTZ'S STATEMENT WHEN GERMAN PLANES WERE LANDING ON SYRIAN AERODROMES—FIRST THAT NONE HAD ARRIVED THERE AND THEN THAT THOSE THAT HAD ARRIVED WERE OWING TO FORCED LANDING.

"Having captured Crete the Germans may be expected to push their attack further afield without delay. The question is where?"

Vichy had declared that they would defend the French Colonial empire against all attacks. That statement had received the hearty approval of German propaganda. The Nazis now knew that if Britain takes steps to stop their penetration into Syria the Vichy Government will put up a defence of the French empire and bring about a clash between Britain and France which was what the Germans wanted to see accomplished.

THE REASON

"This is the reason for the Vichy decision to defend the French Colonial empire against cruel British aggression," continued Major Murray. "What do they care about their French Colonial empire except that it suits their intention to help the Germans at?"

HEAVY RAID ON ALEXANDRIA

LONDON, June 5 (Reuter).—Over 100 persons were killed in one of the heaviest enemy air raids over Alexandria last night.

The United States petroleum output is to produce 50,000 barrels a day within 18 months, it is reported.

DUBLIN RAID CASUALTIES

In a statement in the Daily yesterday, the Eire Premier, Mr. de Valera, said that in the recent raid on Dublin 27 people were killed and 45 injured; 45 houses were destroyed and 300 damaged. A protest had been made to the German Government, says Reuter.

China Unlikely To Remain Long In The Defensive Role

CHUNGKING, June 5 (Reuter).—While Japan remains undecided whether to go southward or to penetrate further into China's interior, the Chinese Army is looking towards the autumn when ENOUGH AMERICAN ARMAMENT IS EXPECTED TO HAVE BEEN RECEIVED TO ENABLE IT TO TAKE THE INITIATIVE—provided no unexpected developments occur—according to well-informed Chinese circles here.

With United States aid, China is rapidly and steadily growing in volume, these circles state, and China is unlikely to remain long in the defensive role.

China, they declare, only requires aircraft, artillery and mechanized equipment for a large-scale counter-offensive against the Japanese Army in China, and there is every reason to believe that such equipment is forthcoming shortly from the United States.

It is true, they add, that after the arrival of such equipment there must be time for training the organization personnel before they can be used effectively in the field.

A part of the equipment must also be used to protect China's vital communication routes, also the main military bases in order to ensure a continued flow of materials from abroad.

As soon as these tasks are completed, it is asserted the world will see an important change in the Sino-Japanese situation.

Where the Chinese Army will deal the first blow must remain a secret with the Chinese High Command, Chinese sources say, but it is safe to predict the Chinese Army will strike first at the positions which will give China the highest value in economic, military and political spheres.

At the same time, it is pointed out, the operations must also be of such a nature as to make the deepest impression abroad.

IMPORTANCE OF A.A. MEN

The importance of anti-aircraft men was stressed by MR. HERBERT MORRISON, Home Minister, when addressing officers and N.C.O.'s of an A.A. brigade in London yesterday.

Mr. Morrison said that the success of A.A. fire was measured not only by the planes brought down but also the distance from the gun at which the attackers were forced to fly.

HUGE U.S. SUPPLY BILL SUBMITTED

AN ARMY SUPPLY BILL FOR $2,502,000,000 was submitted by the Appropriations Committee to the House of Representatives in Washington yesterday.

It is the largest single bill for war material since the last war. One of the items provides for 40,000 planes for the U.S. Army Air Corps.

Mr. Patterson, Assistant Secretary for War, stated that there would be military need for all the planes covered by this appropriation.

Latest available information was that the German output of planes was 3,000 per month, but, with the occupied territories, the figure would probably be between 4,000 and 5,000.

ADEQUATE AIR SUPPORT ASSURED FOR IMPERIAL FORCES IN CYPRUS IN THE EVENT OF HOSTILITIES: MENZIES' STATEMENT

MELBOURNE, June 5 (Reuter).—ADEQUATE AIR SUPPORT IS ASSURED FOR THE ANZAC AND IMPERIAL FORCES IN CYPRUS IN THE EVENT OF HOSTILITIES THERE.

It is learned authoritatively that the Advisory War Council will receive a statement to this effect at a meeting today.

It is pointed out the proximity of Cyprus to Egypt and Palestine would permit strong air support.

The Prime Minister, Mr. R. G. Menzies, declared in a statement today that the Commonwealth Government was constantly in contact with London over the moves and lessons in the Middle East, and that every possible step will be taken to avoid the repetition of recent defeats.

Active steps will be taken to strengthen the position for the future.

CRETE DISCUSSION

SYDNEY, June 5 (Reuter).—Labour members of the War Council will insist on a discussion of Australian casualties in Crete and a review of the disposition of all Australian forces at the Council meeting in Melbourne today.

Mr. Beasley, one of the Labour members, stated that the figures of Australian losses in Crete announced by Mr. Spender would be received by the Australian people with the greatest concern.

"It is tragic that our forces suffered through lack of proper equipment and adequate air support. This must be the final lessons to those whose duty is to ensure that our soldiers have at least a fighting chance.

"Government must insist that in future the United Kingdom Government guarantees adequate air support to Australian forces."

EGAL STILL AWAITING TRIAL

SHANGHAI, June 5 (Reuter).—Although arrested exactly two months ago on allegations of aiding French blue-jackets to desert, Roderick Egal, leader of the Free French movement in Shanghai, is still waiting patiently in a prison in Saigon, a letter he was removed shortly after his arrest, to be formally charged in court, according to reports received here.

It is understood, however, that a military judge has already been appointed to hear the case and the testimony of several witnesses in Shanghai has been received in Saigon.

WELL TRAINED CORPORALS

An American correspondent writes of a statement made by the late EX-KAISER when he was told that HITLER planned the whole of the campaign in France last year.

The ex-Kaiser squared his shoulders and said: "It only goes to show you how well we trained our corporals in the last war."

JAPAN AND AMERICAN SHIP ACTION

Tokyo Offers Three Possible Reasons

TOKYO, June 5 (Reuter).—Japanese shipping quarters see three possible reasons behind the United States Maritime Commission's action in requisitioning an increased number of merchantmen hitherto engaged in Pacific passenger trade.

Firstly, the need to divert these vessels to freight service on other routes.

Secondly, protection of these ships from possible Japanese seizure in the event of a crisis in the Pacific, and Thirdly, another anti-Japanese gesture calculated to demonstrate United States displeasure at Japan's policies in the Far East.

The same circles point out that the withdrawal of American ships from the Pacific places Japanese ships, particularly those of the N.Y.K. and O.S.K. in a position to monopolize Pacific sea lanes.

However, they add, at present there are no plans under consideration with a view to altering trans-Pacific schedules.

Also, the American move is not expected to result in increased shipping profits since all available Japanese bottoms are already occupied to full capacity, while there are no prospects of an increase in foreign tourist trade to the Far East.

Shamshupo Depot For Traffickers In Children Raided

What is believed to be a depot for traffickers in children was raided by a party from the Secretariat for Chinese Affairs, led by Inspector G. W. Moreton, on Wednesday night.

The raiding party left the S.C.A. at 8 p.m., and proceeded to No. 111, Tai Nam Street, Shamshupo, WHERE 15 CHILDREN, ALL UNDER 10 YEARS OF AGE, WERE FOUND ON THE PREMISES.

On being questioned, some of the children claimed that they were brought to the house by people from the "country" (village). Others said that they were sold—some for $40, some $30, others $25, and yet others for as little as $12.

They were all well fed and cared for, and the majority of them were smart-looking youngsters. Among the 15 recovered by Insp. Moreton were two infants.

While the Police were still on the premises two women appeared. King Boris is on an informal visit to Berlin where he has seen Herr Hitler and Field-Marshal Goering.

Today's News Summary

WHILE GERMAN INFILTRATION into Syria is continuing there is little news from Vichy. It is reported that Herr Abetz, German Envoy, has returned to Paris with still more proposals from Berlin for Franco-German collaboration. Gen. Weygand has postponed his return to North Africa from Vichy until tomorrow.

GENERAL CATROUX, FREE FRENCH C-in-C. in the Middle East has arrived at Haifa to meet General de Gaulle. They will have conversations with the Commander-in-Chief of the British forces in Palestine.

ADEQUATE AIR SUPPORT FOR THE Imperial troops in the event of hostilities in Cyprus is assured according to a statement from Melbourne.

THE AUSTRALIAN PRIME MINISTER has stated that the Commonwealth is in constant contact with London over the lessons in the Middle East and active steps would be taken to strengthen the position in the future.

JAPAN HAS ADVANCED THREE possible reasons for the United States Maritime Commission's action in requisitioning ships in the Far East.

COLONY'S AQUATIC STARS TO MEET IN AMBITIOUS GALA ARRANGED FOR JULY

European "Y" And V.R.C. Combine Their Forces Against Chinese Clubs

BY "JIN"

Owing to sudden indisposition Chan Chun-nam did not participate in the "Y" gala last Saturday and this robbed the fete of some of its excitement. Nevertheless, a good attendance turned up and witnessed some good swimming.

David Hutchinson, last year's champion, won both the sprint events and though his time was comparatively slow it is too early in the season to pass judgment on his performance. His commanding lead in the relay race gave his team victory over the Chinese in the 200 yards. Apart from these three events, which the "Y" won, the Lai Tsun Union had pretty much their own way.

The cancellation of the ladies' free style relay was another disappointment to the many fans who had turned up to see the fair sex in action for the first time. This event was cancelled owing to the non-appearance of the other teams, other than the Lai Tsun ladies.

In spite of all these exciting sport were witnessed and the European Y.M.C.A. must be congratulated for their untiring efforts to make the gala a success.

C.B.C. GALA

Chinese Bathing Club opened their new season somewhat sensationally when two national records topped at the gala held last Sunday at North Point.

The performers were Miss Ho Wai-king in the 100 metres, and the newly-formed club, Sing Tao, in the Men's 200 metres free-style relay-race.

Miss Ho, on Sunday's performance, will constitute a serious threat in the sprint events in the Colony Championships while Sing Tao will also take a lot of beating from other clubs.

FORTHCOMING CARNIVAL

It is officially announced that the swimming carnival between a European Y.M.C.A., V.R.C. combination and the United Chinese Clubs of the Colony will take place at the V.R.C. pool on July 26.

Champions of both sexes will be seen in action and the meet will be a preview for the championships in September. The net proceeds will be equally divided between the Bomber Fund and the British Fund for the Relief of Distress in China.

THE PROGRAMME

The programme of events are:

THE ROYAL CANADIAN HENLEY REGATTA

TORONTO.—The 68th Annual Royal Canadian Henley Regatta will be held at St. Catharines from July 24 to 26, the Canadian Association of Amateur Oarsmen announced.

The Association's President, Robert G. Dibble stated that the Buffalo Westsides, Detroit, and Wyandotte, Michigan, had assured him that they would send strong teams to compete in all classes, and that the Toronto Dons and Argonauts and the Hamilton Leanders had expressed a desire to continue competition despite the war.

LARGEST BOMBER'S COMPLETION: TO EUROPE AND BACK NON-STOP

SANTA MONICA, Calif.—Four years and 9,000 blue-prints after construction started, Douglas Aircraft's famed B-19 is ready for test flights.

Rollled out onto Clover Airport for final tune-ups before testing its wings, probably late this week, the B-19 poised like a dragon fly on an ant hill—an ant hill swarming with 6-foot men who looked tiny from the top of the rudder, 42 feet, 9 inches above the ground.

Seven hundred thousand man hours went into construction of the new giant of the airways, which was built to fly 7,750 miles non-stop to Europe and back.

The bomber has a wing spread of 212 feet, an overall length of 132 feet.

It has a top speed of 210 miles an hour, cruising speed of 186.

Douglas' largest previous land-plane was the DC-4, with a 138-foot wingspread and a 2,200-mile cruising range. The Boeing XB-18 is larger, with a spread of 153 feet.

Douglas didn't disclose the cost of the B-19 but it spent $2,500,000 on the DC-4. Maybe that'll give you an idea. The DC-4 was sold to the Japanese Government and reports say it cracked up in Nippon.

The B-19, fairly bristles with guns but the number is a military secret. Its bomb capacity is 18 tons.

Its empty weight is nearly 24 tons—83,253 pounds. Loaded to capacity it can carry another 41 tons. It requires a normal flight crew of 10 and has sleeping accommodations for eight of them.

"CHAIN TELEGRAMS"

According to a special dispatch to the Asahi from New York, a "chain telegram" had been proving most popular among Americans to stimulate the public sentiment towards participation in the war.

Similar to "chain letters" which were popular among the American public some years ago, a recipient of such a telegram is asked to send one to the President and ten additional copies to close friends. The contents of the telegram read to the effect that in order to aid the British, the American Government should immediately enforce the neutrality patrol system and other measures deemed fit under the present circumstances.

AMERICAN GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

NELSON FAVOURITE FOR THE TITLE

FORT WORTH (Texas), June 5 (Reuter).—Bryon Nelson, winner two years ago, is favourite for the American Open Golf Championship which starts here today.

There is a field of over 150 for the event, the qualifying rounds previously having thinned the entries by eliminating would-be champions, notable failures including Scottish-born Jack Hutchinson, winner of the British Open in 1931, Australian-born Joe Kirkwood and Jimmy Thomson.

Lawson Little, British and American amateur champion in 1934 and 1935 and who turned professional and won the Canadian Open in 1936 and won the American title last year, is defending his championship.

Other fancied men are Ralph Guldahl, champion in 1937 and 1938, and Bessie Hogan.

AMERICA'S CINDERELLA

Guest Of President Roosevelt

WASHINGTON.—Little Anna Skelepovich, daughter of a poor Polish immigrant, was hailed as the American Cinderella after she had "joked and laughed with the President while diplomats and politicians waited at the White House.

Clad in a new silk dress, Anna who is thirteen, was an honoured guest at the President's magnificent birthday ball. Previously, in a miserable little shack home in Gary, West Virginia, where her father is a coal-mine mechanic, Anna picked up a newspaper and discovered that the President's birthday was on the same date as her own. So, on a grubby scrap of paper, she wrote to the President, telling him this and wishing him happy returns.

In reply, a polite official acknowledged from the White House Secretary arrived at Anna's home. It was first opened by Anna's brother, who for a joke added the postscript.

"We would like Anna to come to the White House and see the President."

Believing the postscript genuine, Anna's parents spent all their money in taking Anna to Washington, where they called at the White House.

On presenting the letter they were told the invitation was not genuine.

Then Mrs. Roosevelt heard of Anna's call and told the President.

They sent officials searching Washington for the girl from Gary, West Virginia, and late at night Anna was found.

GREATEST NEGRO SOPRANO

NEW YORK.—It is humility, not racial but musical, which characterises Dorothy Maynor, Serge Koussevitzky's great "find" and today probably the finest living negro soprano. Miss Maynor has a little gesture of the right hand, palm up, which symbolizes her attitude when applause thunders about her ears.

"It's the music, not Dorothy Maynor," the gesture, seems to say.

But because neither she, nor her sponsors, anticipated the "break" that came to her a year ago last summer at the Berkshire Festival, when Koussevitzky took her up and made her a celebrity in one afternoon, the year and a half since has been mostly hard, bitter labour. She has time, this summer, for her first vacation, and she knows where she will go.

She will go south, to collect real spirituals with two friends and a recording machine.

UNTRAMMELED

"Nobody sings spirituals quite as Miss Maynor does. She does them alone on the stage, preferably sitting. Then she can sing them as she learned them when a girl in Hampton, Va., untrammelled by "arty" accompaniments and concert tricks.

"We want to record native arrangements," she says, "which you can't put into musical notation. Some Negro harmonies are so strange there is no way to express them on the staff—the quarter tone, for example, often used by the Negro to embellish his singing.

"The average white listener feels the rhythm, the divided beat, when he hears a spiritual. But we Negroes feel also the pulse of the music."

Strangely enough, she points out that the melody of "undoctored" spirituals can almost always be played using only the five black keys of the piano.

The search-party this summer plans to stick close by the coast, because in the swamp country, and on the islands, there are still plenty of Negroes who know the spirituals and sing them as they were meant to be sung.

IDENTITY TAGS FOR U.S. ARMY

NEW YORK.—Four and a half million tags are being printed for the American Army to identify men killed or wounded in battle.

The tags are of cloth, to be pinned on the breasts of the dead or wounded. In spaces on the tags would be written the victim's name, death, cause or nature of wounds.

The order for the tags has caused a sensation. Army officials say it is simply in line with the American policy of being prepared for anything.

"Convoy"
Brilliant Drama At King's Theatre

Personal drama brilliantly presented against a vivid background of high seas action in the current World War is to be seen in the sensational feature adventure film "Convoy," showing today at the King's Theatre.

The engrossing story of "Convoy" depicts the arrival in port of a flagship, the crew of which are eagerly awaiting leave. They are, however, ordered to sea again without a breathing space, to convoy an assortment of merchantmen.

On the flagship the Captain is disconcerted to find the Admiralty have appointed as his lieutenant the man who had eloped with his wife. She, incidentally, is on a refugee ship which soon finds itself in difficulties with a U-Boat. The Captain of the flagship ignores her S.O.S. lest he imperil the vessels he is escorting, but the lieutenant despatches a plane to the refugee ship, only to have it shot down by the enemy. From then on, grim powerful warfare is the order of the day. Eventually the Captain's wife is rescued but the flagship finds itself confronted by the "Deutschland" and is forced to engage the pocket battleship single-handed before capital ships of the Grand Fleet arrive and chase the sadly battered attacker away.

In the cast, Clive Brook and John Clements are outstanding.

Etonians Celebrate Fourth Of June

LONDON, June 5 (Reuter).—The traditional dress of swallow-tail coats and silk hats was adhered to by Eton College boys in yesterday Fourth of June celebrations, but clothes rationing may make it the last occasion until after the war.

The celebrations were among the quietest on record. The bombing of the Upper School last December made it impossible for speeches to be delivered in the historic building for the first time in 170 years.

the former as the finely-mannered fact commander of the flagship and the latter as his rival officer who proves himself a hero before dying in action. Other portrayals are given by Edward Chapman, as the hard-bitten master of the refugee ship, and by Miss Campbell as the woman in the case.

IDENTITY OF INTERESTS BETWEEN FREE FRANCE, BRITAIN IN THE SYRIA QUESTION

German Infiltration Into Country Continuing: French Motorised Units Taken Over

LONDON, JUNE 5 (REUTER).—FOREIGN REPORTS OF THE PRESENCE OF GENERAL DE GAULLE IN JERUSALEM at the head of a Free French force are not officially confirmed in either Free French or British quarters in London, but they serve to emphasise the identity of interests between Free France and Britain in the Syrian question as in other matters.

Since General de Gaulle returned to Cairo about 11 days ago to be in close touch with developments in Syria and elsewhere, there has been no further news of his movements. Meanwhile, the reported decision of the Vichy Government to defend the French Empire "single-handed" is significant in several ways.

The announcement seems to be designed to meet the charges which are being increasingly heard inside France that the French are not masters in their own house and the fact that such an announcement is thought necessary at present may doubtless be taken as a measure of the dissatisfaction felt in France and in the French Empire at Vichy's policy.

The phrase "single-handed" is doubtless German-inspired. It would pay the Germans well to lure the Vichy forces into single-handed hostilities while the German Army made its preparations leisurely and then make a dramatic entry at a propitious moment. But whatever phrases Vichy employs, the fact remains that her troops can fight only with German-made arms made in French factories now under German control.

Further reports from France of increasing attacks by night on German forces in Occupied France seem to suggest increasing dissatisfaction among loyal Frenchmen at German control there.

MOROCCO AND SYRIA

The knowledge that German military activity is in full flood both in Morocco and Syria will certainly do little to allay this resentment.

Evening papers in London emphasise that the testing time in the Mediterranean is drawing near. The "Star" declares: "The stage is set for a mighty struggle on the eastern shores of the Mediterranean. The Axis strategy is to strike down through Syria and Palestine on one side and from Libya on the other."

"Reverses in Greece and Crete should not make us forget that we owe the chief successes of our arms in this war to General Wavell's skill."

TESTING TIME

"The testing time is drawing nearer. The valour and quality of our fighting men have been proved in many fierce encounters against heavy odds. The least they deserve is every support in machines and equipment that our workshops can give them, coupled with the resolve on the part of our High Command to abandon all old-fashioned notions of strategy, tactics and technique."

"The Germans are likely to stake everything on a decision this summer before American help becomes an avalanche. Hitler is thinking in terms of total war, of a lightning war and of 100 per cent effort. Our watchword must be 'All Out.'"

U.S. APPROVAL

WASHINGTON, June 5 (Reuter).—There is no doubt that whatever steps Britain is forced to take in Syria she will have the wholehearted approval of the United States as press and public continue their denunciation of the Darlan policy.

In a trenchant editorial, the Washington Post says that if Darlan's remarks mean anything, France is prepared not only to kiss the rod which beat her but to wield it against the nation to which her people must look for their salvation.

It goes on to say that Hitlerism is America's declared enemy and that France cannot be a friend of Germany and also of the United States.

NAZI INFILTRATION

CAIRO, June 5 (Reuter).—Reports trickling over the frontier indicate that steady German infiltration of Syria continues by land, sea and air. Three weekly the Taurus express disgorges batches of approximately 50 Nazis while further Germans continue to arrive by plane at Syrian airport, writes Reuter's correspondent in Syria.

The latest reports indicate that more than 12 planes are arriving daily, many of which are fighters. Yesterday 150 troop-carriers landed at Rayak but for what purpose is unknown as all were empty.

BATTLE OF ATLANTIC

COL. FRANK KNOX & U.S. PATROLS

WASHINGTON, June 5 (Reuter).—The United States Navy has not yet been able to determine whether the expansion of the United States naval patrol has substantially reduced the effectiveness of German submarine operations.

This was stated by Colonel Frank Knox, Secretary of the Navy, yesterday. The Germans, he said, were claiming a tremendous number of sinkings, but "hitherto the British had generally been right" in contending that the true figures were "much less than the German claims."

Colonel Knox, who was speaking at his press conference, disclosed that the United States Navy had offered to train pilots for Britain similarly to the undertaking of the United States Army.

Colonel Knox understood that the initial contingent would number 3,000.

Colonel Knox also reported that the British had made no new requests for destroyers but were asking for all help possible in merchantmen transfers.

HEAVY FIGHTING IN W. SUIYUAN

Japanese Decimated In Salsien

CHUNGKING, June 5 (Central).—There is another flare-up of military activity in western Suiyuan with the Chinese taking the initiative. On the night of May 31, a Chinese flying column launched a sortie on the Japanese near Salsien and pushed as far as Yingyatsze, south-east of Salsien, where the Japanese were heavily engaged and decimated.

On the same day, another Chinese force made an attack on the Japanese at Talliang northwest of Anpeh from several directions. One detachment met and defeated a Japanese unit at Chihkentze, northwest of Talliang, while another column launched a furious attack on Talliang itself. As the result of a heavy engagement lasting until the night of the following day, the Japanese suffered severe losses. The Chinese are continuing their attacks on Talliang.

STRATEGIC CAPTURES

The Chinese troops harassing the Japanese in the vicinity of Paotow are also making progress. Up to the night of June 1, they had captured successively many strategic points including Yangli, Shihkai, Niuchang, all southeast of Shuangchuantien, and destroyed the Japanese defence works there.

Ouyangtai, another important Japanese post near Paotow, was also recaptured following a heavy battle which resulted in over 500 Japanese casualties.

Arabs alike are peacefully investing in the frontier region.

THRILLING ADVENTURES OF R.A.F. FLIGHT LIEUTENANT IN CRETE

LONDON, June 5 (BWS).—The thrilling series of the adventures of a Flight Lieutenant in Crete are described in an Air Ministry bulletin.

After attacking the Malemi airfield in Crete during which he shot down two enemy aircraft Flight-Lieut. Honour was himself shot down into the sea.

The plane dived 40 feet below the surface but Honour managed to come to the top and after four hours' swim reached the coast of Crete.

He spent the night in an icy cold cave.

All the next day he walked on spent the night in a disused church and drank from its stagnant well. Next day he found some lentils in a goat's head's hut.

After more tramping he came upon the village. He was given water, goat-milk, cheese and rye bread and was informed that another British pilot who had been shot down that day was also in the village.

FRIENDLY DISCUSSION

Friendly discussion proceeded as to whether the villagers should turn them over to the enemy who were surrounding the village.

Already six of the villagers had been shot by the Germans for supposedly withholding information. They decided, however, to attempt to find their way through the German lines.

After a meal of egg and chips given them by the French speaking peasants they saw at dusk ME109s attacking a nearby aerodrome. They heard an aircraft approaching the island and thought it was German. But on its approach saw it to be a Sunderland. They signalled with pocket torches in Morse "R.A.F. here. R. A. F. here."

MILLION-TO-ONE CHANCE

Though it was a million-to-one chance the Sunderland pilot would see the signalling he did so and managed to land and take off with the two R.A.F. pilots.

Flight-Lieut. Honour is now back again on duty with his Hurricane squadron and it has just been announced that he has been awarded the immediate bar to the D.F.C.

He has already shot down nine enemy aircraft.

General Sikorski Reports On Results Of U.S. Tour

LONDON, June 5 (Reuter).—General Sikorski's visit to the United States and his conversation with President Roosevelt aroused great enthusiasm in Poland, declared the Polish Commander-in-Chief in a statement on the results of his American tour to the Polish National Council in London yesterday.

The Polish President, M. Raczkiewicz, and all members of the Government were present.

General Sikorski was welcomed by the Acting Vice-Chairman of the National Council, Dr. Lieberman, the well-known Polish Socialist leader.

General Sikorski said that Polish pilots and sailors were on active service and a Polish Brigade in the Middle East, under the command of General Wavell, had taken up its position.

The Polish forces which were defending an important sector of Britain could easily be enlarged by new recruits from Polish manpower in the Western Hemisphere.

The organisation of Polish military training camps in Canada, therefore, had become an acute problem and the Polish Government had decided to spend part of its gold reserves for this object.

The first large comfortable camp would be established at Owen Sound, Ontario, and the second at Windsor. General Sikorski hoped that the Polish forces might be further enlarged next year in readiness for offensive action on the Continent.

General Sikorski paid a warm tribute to the assistance the United States is giving the Allies and expressed his sincere belief that the unlimited potentialities of the United States' war industry would bring victory.

MAIA RENDERED UNSERVICEABLE

Famous Partnership Broken Up

LONDON, June 5 (Reuter).—Maia, bottom half of the Mayo Composite "Pickaback" aircraft, has been damaged and rendered unserviceable in the British harbour.

At the beginning of the war the Pickaback plane, which was one of the world's most expensive aircraft, was released to the Air Ministry for duty with the R.A.F. Coastal Command but apart from the few special service flights she did not take the air often.

Damage to the Maia, breaks the partnership with the smaller upper half of the aircraft, Mercury, which went into service with the Imperial Airways before the war following non-stop flights across the Atlantic and to South Africa.

ECONOMIC WAR EFFORT ADVISORY COMMITTEE: TERMS OF REFERENCE

THE ECONOMIC WAR EFFORT ADVISORY COMMITTEE which is to report to Government on various questions of economic and financial policy in relation to wartime needs has been constituted as follows:—

CHAIRMAN: Mr. D. J. Sloss, C.B.E., M.A.

COMMITTEE: Professor R. Robertson, M.A., Lt.-Col. R. D. Walker, M.C., Mr. D. Kelvin-Stark, Mr. M. F. Key, O.B.E., Mr. P. C. M. Sedgwick, Mr. K. S. Morrison, Mr. D. C. Edmondston, Mr. A. H. Penn, Mr. Ng Chak Wa, Mr. S. M. Churn, Mr. R. E. Heasman (acting for Mr. C. Rogers), Mr. W. T. Lewis (Secretary).

TERMS OF REFERENCE

The Committee's terms of reference are to consider and advise as to how the Colony's contribution to the economic war effort can best be made, with particular reference to:—

(a) the reduction of the consumption of imported goods without permanent injury to the entrepot trade or to post-war British trading interests, and the conservation of shipping space, e.g. by rationing;

(b) the increase of local production—(i) of goods for local consumption, and (ii) of goods required by His Majesty's Government for war purposes;

(c) the collection and diversion into the most useful channels of any savings thus effected.

DIFFICULT PROBLEM

Far removed as the Colony is from the theatres of war, the need for economic sacrifices of supplies may not be obvious, although the fundamental reasons which have dictated limits of personal consumption in the United Kingdom are nevertheless operative in Hongkong.

The existence of Hongkong's entrepot trade presents a difficult problem, but measures are being discussed to reduce importation and consumption of non-essential goods, particularly by those classes of the community which enjoy a relatively high standard of life.

There can be no doubt that every time an individual refrains from making a purchase of imported goods, or locally produced goods, whose production depends to any material extent on imported materials, the war effort is directly benefited. In particular, shipping and productive capacity is saved, and, in many cases, foreign exchange. Even where it may seem that there is plenty of shipping space for inward freight to Hongkong, it must be remembered that saving of time in loading at docks is important, and that many manufactured articles imported are made from raw materials which have to be transported by sea.

PUBLIC CO-OPERATION

The various problems confronting the Advisory Committee will be difficult of solution, and the whole-hearted co-operation of the general public is cordially invited. Any suggestions relating to a vigorous and successful prosecution of the war effort should be addressed to W. T. LEWIS, SECRETARY, ECONOMIC WAR EFFORT ADVISORY COMMITTEE, THE UNIVERSITY, HONGKONG.

WORKING OF THE PROPOSED NEW INTEREST TAXATION

The Commissioner of War Taxation, Mr. A. G. Clarke, received the Press in his offices at Windsor House yesterday to explain to the assembled gentlemen the working of the proposed new Interest Tax.

The tax, the Commissioner explained, is designed to save Chinese business concerns unnecessary embarrassment, Chinese business being always much distressed at the thought of people other than those intimately connected with the transactions recorded being permitted perusal at leisure of their books.

Thus, the Interest Tax will limit the interest in business documents to mortgages, bills of sale, debentures, or, in short, to registered documents promising to pay interest on a loan.

The Tax will probably be imposed at the rate of 14 per cent., and will affect principally the creditor who will receive $86 for every $100 due him in a loan with interest agreement, $14 going to the Treasury.

Mr. Wong, investing a sum of $1,000 in Mr. Chan's business at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum, will thus receive, when the date of payment falls due, a sum of $86.

To explain in a little more detail the working of the Tax, the Commissioner of War Taxation issued the following communiqué:

INTEREST TAX

1. Interest Tax is payable by any person (including a partnership, body of persons, or corporation) who borrow money

(a) on a mortgage, bill of sale, or debenture;

(b) for the purpose of his trade, profession, or business, and who pays interest on the loan.

2. The tax is at the rate of 14 per cent. on the interest paid, and is payable to the Commissioner of War Taxation at the same time as the interest is paid. For example, if you, as a borrower, have to pay a sum of $100 as interest, you must not pay the full amount to your creditor; you should pay him only $86, and you must pay the balance of $14 at once to the Commissioner of War Taxation. If you forget about Interest Tax, and pay the full amount of $100, you will still have to pay the tax of $14 to the Commissioner, but in this case you may recover this sum from your creditor.

3. Your creditor has no claim against you because he does not receive his full interest, but if he asks, you must give him an account of the deduction you have made in the form of a certificate which you can obtain from the War Taxation Department on application.

4. Interest paid to a limited liability company or to an approved bank is not subject to Interest Tax, and therefore any person who borrows only from a limited liability company or an approved bank is not affected by this tax. A list of approved banks will be published and will be obtainable from the War Taxation Department.

5. Anyone in doubt about this tax should apply for advice to the War Taxation Department. This paper is issued without authority in an attempt to help the public to understand the working of the new tax.

SECOND FINE FOR SPITTING

The second prosecution under the anti-spitting bye-law was brought before Mr. H. G. Sheldon, K.C., at the Central Magistracy yesterday against a Water Works Department coolie, Yuen Luen, 26. He was fined $5 for spitting on a footpath in Wanchai Road on Wednesday.

Det.-Sgt. V. M. Morrison said that defendant was arrested by Dr. G. Ingram Shaw, Port Health Officer.

DISASTER FOR HITLER

Astrological forecast, originating from Macao, and which, according to Chinese sources and the vernacular Press has proved remarkably accurate in the past, points to a disaster for Hitler this year followed by death next year.

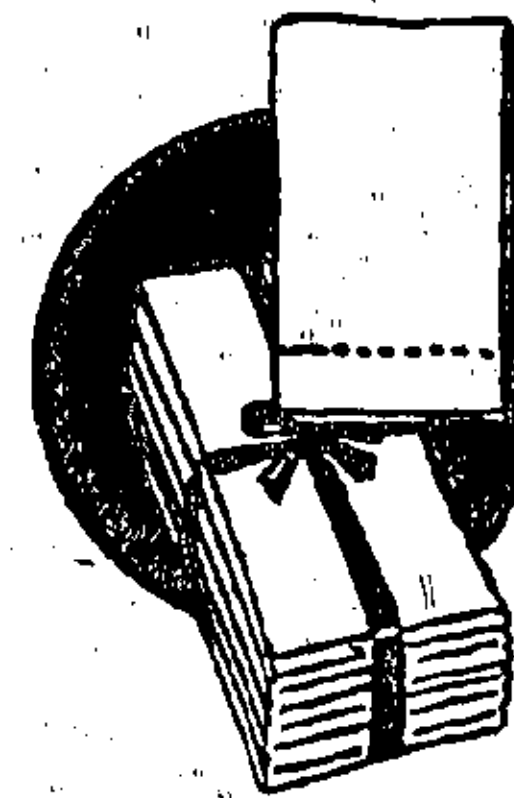

This prophecy was said to be given by a spirit called "Yuen Kung Tsz," which was induced to descend, after five attempts, by Chinese soothsayers in Macao.

Y'S MEN'S Tiffin:

Interesting Discourse On Chinese Architecture

The subject of Chinese architecture is at the same time an old and a new subject, Mr. Y. C. Lee, the architect, told the Hongkong Y's Men's Club yesterday. It is old in that it has its origin in antiquity, earlier than perhaps Greek or Egyptian architecture, and new in that comparatively little knowledge of it is recorded and scholars have but recently begun to conduct research in historical documents relating to the old buildings and study the surviving ancient structures.

In the palace buildings of Peking are embodied the artistic standards and workmanship of nearly all the important dynasties, Mr. Lee said, for Chinese architecture, like all Chinese culture, has followed an unbroken line of tradition, the earliest beginnings being traceable to the ancient classics.

GRANDIOSE SCHEME

Chinese architecture reached a height of grandeur and magnificence in the Chin and Han dynasties, and one of the most grandiose schemes embarked upon by any of the great Emperors was Chin Shi Huang Ti's great palace of O Fang Kung, constructed on a site about 20 li south-west of Hsienyang, his ancestral capital.

The palace was erected within the park or hunting-ground of the Emperor and according to reliable early Han records 700,000 criminals and prisoners were employed at forced labour in its construction. The surrounding palace was said to have been of such dimensions that 10,000 persons could be easily assembled within it. Its grandeur and magnitude must have been of a degree hardly surpassed by the later palaces in Peking.

The whole structure was destroyed by fire toward the end of the dynasty, but its construction undoubtedly set a standard of palatial grandeur which later capital builders sought constantly to excel.

CONQUEROR'S PALACE

Kublai Khan, when he ordered the building of his great palace in Peking thought it better not to ignore traditional style and the square walls and twelve gates of his palace were all modelled after the Chinese plan, though the inner chambers and living quarters were often in the style of his own country or of his conquered territories.

It is revealed in the inscriptions on a contemporary memorial tablet that the chief architect of Kublai Khan's palaces was an Arab who was appointed together with two Chinese to take charge of the building. There were many other foreigners serving in the court in different capacities, the chief of the sculptors being a native of Nepal.

REVIVAL UNDER WAY

There are architects today in China, Mr. Lee said, who are attempting to revive the spirit of Chinese architecture and adapt it in the design of modern buildings and some splendid work has lately been done in this connexion by Mr. Liang Shih-cheng, who studied at the University of Pennsylvania in his researches in Chinese architecture.

Some main features of Chinese architecture, Mr. Lee said, are a predominant horizontal effect, curved roofs and deep eaves, ordeliness of arrangement seen in the almost universal grouping of the principal buildings about great rectangular courts and in the marked adherence to axial planning, a gorgeous use of colour, with stuccoed walls and painted columns, decorated lintels and brackets, and the bracket system of wood construction.

A Colonial Secretariat notification states that quarantine restrictions have been imposed against arrivals from Canton on account of cholera.

EGYPTIAN GOVERNMENT RESHUFFLE

CAIRO, June 5 (Reuters) — A Cabinet reshuffle is taking place here. Members of the Cabinet have submitted their resignations to the Premier, who in turn sent his resignation to King Farouk tonight.

It is understood that the re-forming of the Cabinet will be completed today under the same Premier and with the Saadist Party and Wafd still refusing to join the Cabinet.

While the Wafd will still remain outside the Cabinet, this is purely a question of internal politics and has nothing to do with external affairs.

The Wafd wants a general election held first before entering the National Government whereas other parties consider this undesirable in wartime.

The idea of further broadening the basis of the government is generally welcomed here.

EMPIRE FLAG DAY

From an early hour to shortly after noon yesterday, members of the St. John Ambulance Brigade, Auxiliary Nursing Services and Nursing Division of H.K.V.D.C., were on the streets with their trays of flags and collection tins—the occasion being All-Empire Flag Day, sponsored by H. R. H. the Duke of Gloucester.

To judge by the speed with which the flags on many of the trays "disappeared," there should have been a record collection although the actual figures would not be known until today as many of the tins had not, up to last night, been counted.

MEDITERRANEAN TEST NEAR

WHILE MUCH of the news coming from the Near East is in the unconfirmed stage and largely based on rumour, there is increasing evidence which tends to indicate that the next act in the Battle of the Mediterranean will take place in Syria. At the moment events appear to have developed there into a race between the Axis Powers and Britain for full possession of this important French territory, occupation of which by either side will have a vital bearing on the course of the war. The Vichy Government's pro-Nazi policy, which has now been made obvious to the whole world, has given the Germans the advantage of gaining an earlier foothold in Syria than the British and vigorous demands have arisen for a British coup before the Axis forces can strengthen their position to a formidable extent. Already reports speak of the Vichy authorities having agreed to place the port of Beirut, on the Lebanon coast, at the disposal of the German forces and the infiltration of Nazi troops, planes and war material into the country is stated to be daily increasing.

THE OCCUPATION of Mosul, at the head of the important oil pipe-line in Iraq and close to the Syrian frontier, by the British is taken in many quarters to mean that the British Government is making plans to forestall the Nazi occupation of Syria and, despite the Vichy statement that Syria will resist any such attempts "single-handed," as the report declares, there is little reason to doubt that any such resistance will be assisted by Germany. An open clash between Britain and Vichy thus appears to be imminent, but since the Vichy Government has acted with such treachery against her former ally, the niceties of former sentiment in the relations between France and Britain have now to be completely disregarded. What is most important is that any action Britain might take in this connexion will have the whole-hearted approval of not only the people of the whole British Empire, but of the United States as well, for the Americans clearly realise today that only their all-out assistance to Britain and her allies can enable the latter to go all-out in their determination to win final victory.

IN WASHINGTON the developments in the Eastern Mediterranean are being followed with close attention and by every act, word and gesture during recent weeks, the United States Government has disclosed that it has fully made up its mind concerning the war—that Herr Hitler and his associates

VERNON BARTLETT

Loss Of Crete Gives The Germans Chance To Keep Britain Guessing

The loss of Crete was commented on by MR. VERNON BARTLETT, M.P., when he broadcast from London on Wednesday in the series "BRITAIN SPEAKS."

There was a tendency at Home, said the journalist-M.P., for people to say that the loss of Crete did not matter very much. He would not even pretend that it was so, for the loss of this Island did mean that the Germans got a chance of keeping Britain guessing.

AN AMAZING YEAR

From Crete they could attack either towards Baghdad and India or towards Alexandria and the Suez Canal.

Mr. Bartlett then took his listeners' minds back for a moment over what he described as an amazing year.

Exactly a year ago, he said, Hitler was achieving a great victory, but its psychological value was lost by the obstinacy of the British people not to be beaten. Guns were shelling the British Expeditionary Force on the beaches of Dunkirk. The soldiers were so tired that their blood-soaked socks and boots had to be cut away from their feet.

A year ago the German Radio was protesting against what it described as propaganda for a so-called brilliant retreat. How brilliant the retreat was had since been proved.

IMPORTANT POINT

There was always one point at which Mr. Churchill drew the line, said Mr. Bartlett, and that was that he refused to send over to France air squadrons that were absolutely necessary for the defence of our aircraft factories.

In the great speech Mr. Churchill made just a year ago—the first of a series since he became Prime Minister—he said that we would go on fighting on the beaches, in the air, on land and in the streets. We were determined to fight it necessary for years and, if necessary, alone. They did not realise at the time of hearing must not be allowed to win. The importance of the Syrian issue is recognised in America just as it is in Britain and the incessant demand for action to avoid any further setbacks is justified. In Herr Hitler's plan to oust the British from the Mediterranean, Syria is vital to him. With large forces in Syria he would be able to threaten Iraq and Palestine and his projected drive to the Suez Canal would be made easier. While the British Fleet in the Mediterranean still forms the greatest obstacle to these plans, there is no doubt that the British forces now operating in that area should have the fullest assistance and co-operation from the air.

THE EXPERIENCE of Crete has made this amply clear and it is here that America's all-out assistance to Britain in the matter of aircraft has become increasingly necessary. American naval power is now being used as far as it is necessary to insure the speedy and safe arrival of war supplies to Britain, but more planes for the Royal Air Force is the greatest need at the moment. With the resources at their disposal, the Royal Air Force has already made several successful attempts to put Germany's plans out of step in Syria, where important depots, aerodromes and concentrations have been bombed, but when the test comes, air power will have to play a much bigger part to help the ground forces to meet the offensive which Germany is now preparing. If this is assured, the result should never for a moment be in doubt.

the speech how soon France would go out of the war.

Who would have realised, Mr. Bartlett asked, that the past twelve months would have seen the United States converted from neutrality to such an active part in the war?

All the events he had gone over, Mr. Bartlett said, explained the tragedy of Greece and of Crete.

A YEAR AGO

A year ago, Britain was so nearly down and out. We lost 1,000 guns in France and we could not hope to make good the loss in a few months.

In the interval that had elapsed however, Hitler had not been able to capture three of the most important gateways—the Suez Canal, Gibraltar and the seas round Singapore.

"We may not have yet come to the end of the series of evacuations," went on Mr. Bartlett, "which means we may not have yet begun to win the war."

But with each German victory the enthusiasm inside Germany was less, because they realised that even the invasion of England would not necessarily mean the end of the war.

THE NEAR EAST

Mr. Bartlett then referred to a radio commentator who dealt with an interesting and significant argument as to why Hitler, after assuring Mr. Chamberlain that he would have no more territorial claims following the return of Sudetenland, should now have so much interest in Iraq and the Near East.

Japan surely would be impressed by German successes in Asia, but would stake her claim in the Netherlands East Indies before the redoubtable Nazis got there. Russia would probably be offered provinces in North Iran.

If British troops had not been landed in Iraq, the line along which they would have had to fight would have been very awkwardly extended to British communications in the Eastern Mediterranean and Germany would have attacked through Suez as well as through the Straits of Gibraltar. But Crete stood in her way and Cyprus still stands in her path.

CANADIAN SOLDIER CHARGED

Borden, Hants.—Pte. Patrick Michael Harvey, 30, a Canadian soldier, appeared before a general court-martial and pleaded not guilty to two charges of begging to the prejudice of good order and military discipline. He admitted two charges of being absent without leave.

The prosecution stated that Harvey absented himself and the next day was arrested when begging from civilians in Piccadilly Circus. He again absented himself and the next day was re-arrested when begging at the Regent Palace Hotel.

George Lane and William Frank Harrington, inquiry superintendents at the hotel, said they heard Harvey speaking to a resident and asking him for 7s. 6d., which the man refused to give him.

He then spoke to a Polish officer, who gave him a £1 note and some loose money. Harvey then went into the Winter Garden and begged for a drink.

TRAFFIC MISHAPS

A nine-year-old child, Kwok Chui-wan, of No. 40 Wuhu Street, yesterday received cuts and bruises on her forehead as a result of being knocked down by a bus, No. 888 in Mau Ta Wei Road, near the Hunghom Police Station.

Sergeant Burkitt of the Midsex Regiment, Nanking Barracks, was involved in a traffic accident, when the motor-cycle on which he was riding, struck a Sanitary Department coolie, Toi Wan, near the Kowloon Motor Bus Company in Castle Peak Road, yesterday.

The coolie was sent to the Kowloon Hospital.

HITLER LOSING BATTLE OF TIME IN SPITE OF HIS MANY SUCCESSES

Describing the sinking of the Bismarck as the most significant event of the past week, SIR FREDERICK WHYTE, K.C.S.I., former Political Adviser to the National Government of China, declared, in a broadcast from London on Wednesday that this sinking was a sign that in spite of his many successes Herr Hitler was losing the battle of time.

At the outset of his talk, Sir Frederick declared that the past week had been full of drama. Never even in the history of this war of swiftly moving events had the story of the struggle been so lit up by such highlights in the East and in the West.

Sir Frederick detailed the principal events of the week from the sinking of the Hood and the Bismarck up to the meeting between Herr Hitler and Signor Mussolini at Brenner Pass in order to see what they could do next.

"Here, in Britain, we have to take the measure of these events as part of the whole picture and we have to look at that picture in its light and shadows to draw from it the true moral, if we can find it," said Sir Frederick.

TURNING POINT

"Every judge of the war knows that the year 1941 is the critical turning point. Nearly half of the year has passed and during these six months three battles have been waged—firstly, the Battle of the Mediterranean, secondly, the Battle of the Atlantic which has been lit up now by the Hood and the Bismarck, and thirdly, the Battle of Britain.

"Beyond these three theatres of war is the wider theatre in which Moscow, Tokyo and Washington are acting their varied parts. The part played by these three—Mr. Stalin, Mr. Matsukata and President Roosevelt—are largely decided by them in battle areas in which none of them are directly engaged. None of these three are in the war though it may be said that the Americans are in it short of an actual declaration.

"What do they say and how do they keep up with the dramatic events of the past week?" continued Sir Frederick. "I am not going to tell you the story of the past ten days again, but there is something to be said about the relation of the three battles to each other. They form a test case in the struggle between two great antagonists.

THE SAME STORY

"We know what happened previously when the greatest land-power and the greatest sea-power were ranged against each other. Napoleon held land-power, as Herr Hitler does now, but he could not continue to hold it. The weapon of sea-power finally struck the sword of conquest from Napoleon's grasp. We believe that history will tell the same story again, but we are well aware that it is the same story with a difference.

"Napoleon planned one of the greatest designs of the war in 1804 when he wanted to invade England. He knew he had only one enemy to fear and that if he could send his army across the narrow seas and beat this enemy, the world would be at his feet. "He could not do it, so he turned eastwards. Today, Herr Hitler has the same dream. He, too, must strike like Napoleon at the British Isles which are the base of resistance to him. Like Napoleon, he does not rule the seas, but, unlike Napoleon, he wields a weapon which has double the fighting power that Napoleon had—he still has numerical superiority in the air.

SAME POSITION

"The combination of these two weapons of land and air power has been demonstrated in Greece and in Crete. But, up to the moment I am talking about, the net result has been to bring Herr Hitler almost to the same position in which Napoleon stood."

Sir Frederick declared that there were differences between the Napoleonic war and this war, which made a parallel inexact. Napoleon had tried to invade Britain before the Mediterranean campaign.

"Herr Hitler is already in the Mediterranean and we may have to fight another Battle of the Nile before the Battle of the Mediterranean is over. What remains to be seen is whether air-power can do for Herr Hitler what Napoleon could not do without it."

Sir Frederick declared that Germany's air-power against England last autumn had failed, and the Germans had withdrawn from daylight warfare to ponder on the lessons they had learned. Now they came by night and it was many weeks before the British were able to meet with any success against

ADVANTAGE SMALLER

"In the light of these figures, the advantage which Herr Hitler seemed to have over Napoleon in the task of attacking England grows smaller and Herr Hitler's advantage over us diminishes for the same reason," said Sir Frederick. "The margin between us is getting narrower. We may have to suffer further setbacks and reverses before we can defeat him, but nothing calamitous can happen so long as we hold control of the seas. Our sea-power has gained us precious time to replace our lost equipment and our sea-power is keeping open the gate through which the Dominions and the United States are coming to our aid."

Sir Frederick declared that all these were dramatic events of the past week, but the sinking of the Bismarck was the most significant. "Not for a moment do I forget the gallant struggle put up by General Freyberg and his men and the plucky 'Cretans' themselves," continued Sir Frederick, "but the flaming, smoking and sinking Bismarck was most significant, because it shows where the key to victory lies. In every neutral heart it has checked the fear of Nazi power and it was followed by President Roosevelt's talk like a flash at the right moment and raised the name of England high in the United States."

LOSS OF HOOD

"Here at home we felt at first the shock of the loss of the Hood. A great ship of 1,300 officers and men was sent down before it was known that they had not died in vain. That is the price of our security. Mr. Churchill promised us blood and sweat and tears and the sea fulfilled this promise when these men died."

"The Bismarck was also a great ship—indeed a much greater ship—and also manned by gallant men. But we did not stop to balance the gain or loss in tonnage or fighting strength. We see in her destruction new proof that we can, and will, keep the seas open for what we need. That traffic grows and swells, paying toll sometimes, but never stopping."

"That gives us final superiority in all three elements—the air, the land and the sea. The Bismarck is a sign that in spite of his many successes, Herr Hitler is losing the battle of time. The Nazi Ambassador to Vichy, Herr Abetz, said recently that Napoleon learned to be afraid of space in the case of Russia, but that he was afraid of time in the case of England. Herr Abetz seems to have realised even before the Bismarck was sunk that his master was losing the battle of time," concluded Sir Frederick.

ATTEMPTED TO DESERT

Clermont-Ferrand.—A court-martial held here sentenced to a year's imprisonment eleven Pilot-Sergeants from North African base of the French air force who, in July 1940, attempted to desert.

In his summing up, the Prosecutor, taking into account the fact that the men had expressed regrets for their action, asked for a "humane judgment for the serious misdemeanour of these young men."

Nine of the accused were defended by Maître Pierre Weiss, member of the Algiers bar, who is none other than the General Weiss of World War fame who served brilliantly in the air force.

YAUMATI FIRE

A lighter, No. 3433, owned by Po Kwai-sing, caught fire yesterday at Yaumati. The timely arrival of a fireboat prevented the flames from spreading. Very slight damage was, however, done to the cargo on board and to the junk.

Nazi Propaganda A Failure: Facts Too Strong For Hitler

An analysis of the reason why Nazi propaganda is failing today and why it was so successful before the outbreak of the war was made recently over Station XCDN by MR. JOHN HARFORD, in one of his series of talks, "As I See It," reports the North China Daily News.

Before the war the Nazis were able to tell the German people what they wanted to hear, they were able to point to successes won in many different fields. Now, however, they cannot tell the German people what they want to hear. They cannot say that Germany is invincible or that the war will be won in a short while.

Mr. Harford's talk follows:—

How amusing it is to realize what can be done and what has been done by propaganda with modern methods, especially when used upon receptive material like the herd-loving sentimental Germans.

Imagine the fine flower of modern propaganda—a Nazi mass meeting—during the years leading up to the outbreak of war; these meetings followed a well recognized pattern, but how effective that pattern was!

THEATRICAL EFFECTS

The vast hall impressively draped and lit. The expectant crowds worked into a frenzy by martial music and community singing. The uniformed youths with their banners. Finally the climax when at a signal, the lights go dim and the lonely figure of the Führer, picked out by a spotlight, steps forward from black curtains, and the well prepared mass of people is swept away by his fierce oratory into an orgy of hatred and stupidity.

If you analyse this performance you will find that its success was due to three conditions. The speaker succeeded, first because his audience wanted to hear the things he was telling them; they wanted to hear that the defeat of Germany in battle and her sufferings after the war were not due to any failures or shortcomings of the German race as expressed in their actions leading up to the last war and subsequently, but were due to the treachery of Jews, Communists, Pacifists, Democrats—any label the speaker found it convenient to apply at any particular meeting.

He succeeded, second, because all elements of criticism and all differences of opinion were carefully excluded, leaving only one impression—unanimity and devotion to the movement—and only one ideal—power.

The whole set up of parades and applause, skilfully organised to give an irresistible effect, were designed to impress the people with a feeling of overwhelming power and an uncomfortable realisation that a strong physical force was lurking in the background ready to deal with anyone who dared to interrupt or express contrary views.

APPEALED TO FACTS

He succeeded, thirdly, and I am speaking, remember, of the prewar period—because he was appealing to facts. He was able to point to actions that seemed at the time, and were, incredible; and was able to acclaim them as speaking louder than words—his own hysterical emotional state of words. No wonder they applauded, the poor sheep, when he flourished before them the successful rearmament of Germany; the remilitarisation of the Rhineland; the rape of Austria, the seizure of Czechoslovakia.

They didn't reason, they didn't look ahead. They merely said "Ahi!" with fawning unanimity when he produced these rabbits out of a tin hat as proofs of Germany's invincibility.

These three conditions have been the necessary basis for all Fascist and Nazi propaganda—a receptive audience, an impression of power, and the corroboration of facts.

Hitler's power, Mussolini's power, any dictator's power is based upon the clever combination and use of these conditions, but this type of propaganda has its obvious weak points. Nothing succeeds like success, and nothing fails so completely or so rapidly as the propaganda that lacks one or more

MORE POWERFUL THAN BISMARCK

WASHINGTON, June 5 (Reuter)—High naval commanders had conferences yesterday with Colonel Frank Knox, Secretary for Navy, and Admiral Harold R. Stark, Chief of Naval Operations.

Col. Knox told journalists that the new American battleships North Carolina and Washington would greatly exceed the power of the German battleship Bismarck.

"Our armour is better and our guns larger."

of these so essential and convincing props.

CONDITIONS NOT APPLICABLE

Consider a Nazi mass meeting held today. Ask yourselves which of the three conditions I have mentioned are present? You will find that the answer is, none of them.

The speaker cannot tell his audience things they want to hear, for what they want to hear is that the so unaccountably prolonged Blitzkrieg has succeeded. They want to hear that the end is in sight. They want to hear that they themselves need expect to suffer no more, and that they need not fear another winter of hardship, poverty and death. What do they hear? The only conquests he mentions are those on the Continent of Europe the value of which they have learned to discount. As far as the end is concerned Hitler has even given up acclaiming each year as the year of victory. As far as suffering is concerned, he may censor the outgoing reports, but he cannot censor the suffering of those who have to endure it.

Then what of the impression of irresistible force that achieved such miracles of conformity? So little was needed to shake that feeling and so much has occurred.

Not only has a hostile Air Force appeared in the skies that were alleged to be inviolable but they have penetrated wherever and whenever they have chosen, they have rained destruction on those industries that were said to be so safe from attack, they have shaken the confidence not only of the sheep who seemed to have absorbed the Nazi lesson so satisfactorily but also of the leaders themselves, the teachers from whom they had it. Is it conceivable that criticism can be stifled in the light of these events?

REAL FACTS LACKING

And where are the facts that were to speak for themselves? Much can be done, it is true, in a totalitarian country where all the means of news dissemination can be controlled, but for facts to speak for themselves, they have to be real, not manufactured. Real facts are that the war which was to have ended last year is still going on as the British Prime Minister said it would be, that German armies have penetrated no further outside the Continent of Europe than the territory of vassal Italy, that hostile air squadrons daily rain destruction on Germany's largest cities and best guarded industrial areas. These facts may not be written in Germany, they may not be spoken, but they are very thoroughly understood.

Political power depends upon the loyalty of men, and the loyalty of men can be enlisted in three ways; by an appeal to sympathy, by an appeal to fear, and by an appeal to reason.

AXIS METHODS

Each of these methods have been used by the Axis Dictators at the right moment. They have captured the sympathy of their people by appealing to the intense passions of nationalism, by telling their people the things they wanted to hear. When the machinery of Government had been captured by these means, they used the appeal to fear, brute force, cruelty, sadism. Then when all opposition had been cowed they came out with the appeal to reason by displaying their impressive record of achievements.

These methods, as I have said, depended on success for their ascendancy, and that success is now lacking. Nazi and Fascist propaganda has exhausted itself and the field is clear for the quiet voice of truth.

What more, overwhelming proof could be needed that the mirror of illusion is shattered than the defection—the escape, of Rudolph Hess, No 3 in the hierarchy of Nazidom, incorruptible and uncompromising "Party Member Hess."

We know that Hitler's skilfully contrived "Propaganda Pattern" has been disrupted, and remember that this has been done by actual achievements by the facts that have been made real by the forces of Great Britain and her Allies.

BOMB DAMAGE TO BRITISH HOMES

LONDON BOROUGH CHIEF SUFFERERS

LONDON, June 5 (BWS)—Interesting figures relating to bomb damage to house property were given by the Minister of Health yesterday when he disclosed that as many as 80,000 men had been mobilised by the local authorities throughout the country in repair squads.

London, Mr. Ernest Brown said, has suffered twice as much damage to private houses as the rest of the country put together but in most London districts damaged houses have received first aid repairs.

Giving a typical example of the damage done to more vulnerable London boroughs, Mr. Brown said of 49,000 houses comprising one such borough 3,423 have been destroyed or damaged beyond repair, 19,240 damaged but repairable of which about 5,000 could not be made fit by first aid repairs.

Taking the country as a whole, more than 80 per cent. of repairable houses have been made wind and water-tight and work on this was being speeded up.

Last week, over 39,000 houses were so treated in London alone.

both ends of the Mediterranean."

Major Murray declared that the terms of the last agreement between Admiral Darlan and Herr Hitler were stated to include the permanent use by Germany of naval bases in the French colonies. That showed the worth of the so-called defence of the French Colonial empire.

Gen. Dentz had declared that the French will defend their colonies single-handed and so she would. Germany thought the whole idea was marvellous because they knew that it meant only the defence against Britain.

NEXT TARGET

"I would say that Syria is Germany's next target," continued Major Murray. "From there she will be much more easily placed to attack Cyprus. Don't get the idea that we are not very wide awake there. General Wavell has the complex situation at his fingertips and we can trust him, to do the right thing, at the right time and at the right place."

Major Murray concluded by referring to the bright light in the situation as seen in the occupation of Mosul by the British troops. The British now had troops close to the Syrian-Turkish frontier. It was not yet known to what extent the Germans had penetrated there but the Vichy Government had already been warned about what to expect if any detrimental act to the British prosecution of the war was done.

Mr. Eden had declared that people should be careful not to confuse the will of the Vichy Government with the will of the French people.

From their long experience the French people had learned to loathe and despise their oppressor. The sad thing was that there did not seem to be a spark of this hatred in the Vichy Government, which, prodded by the German bayonet, controlled France.

WHERE DOES JAPAN STAND WITH THAI?

BANGKOK, June 5 (Reuter)—Where does Japan stand with Thailand? This question was obliquely answered by the SRIKRUNG which is known to reflect nationalist Thai opinion.

The paper contests the Japanese assertion that Britain dominates Thailand's national economy because she has the lion's share of Thai export and import trade.

If in future Japan steps in Britain's shoes, it will not mean that Japanese influence will penetrate every nook of the Thai commerce industry.

Proceeding, the Srikrung says that with the fall of France Thailand ceased to be a buffer state between Britain and France, but it seems that Thailand has not escaped the doubtful benefits of being a buffer state as Japan has stepped in France's place.

REQUISITIONING OF FAR EAST LINERS

TOKYO MYSTIFIED AT U.S. ACTION

TOKYO, June 5 (Reuter)—Japanese shipping circles are apparently mystified at the withdrawal of four American President liners from the Far East as reportedly ordered by the United States Government.

Information reaching a local Japanese shipping company from San Francisco states the United States Government requisitioned 16 vessels including four President liners which hitherto had been on the Far Eastern run.

Japanese circles are at a loss to determine whether the requisition had been designed as a precautionary measure against worst eventually in the Pacific in view of the increasingly tense relations between Japan and the United States, or as a means to facilitate the transportation of American goods.

There is, however, said to be no intention on the part of Japanese companies to make any change in the present routing of Japanese vessels on the American run.

EVACUATION OFFICE SET UP IN COLONY

SHUIKWAN, June 5 (Reuter)—In view of the steadily worsening of the international situation and in order to save the Chinese in Hongkong and Macao of possible losses caused by the war, the Kwangtung Provincial Government has decided to organise a committee for the evacuation of the Chinese from the two ports.

It has also decided to set up an office at Hongkong, Macao and other suitable place to attend to the affairs of evacuation.

CONDITIONS IN DENMARK UNDER NAZI RULE DESCRIBED

AN INTERESTING INSIGHT INTO CONDITIONS IN DENMARK, UNDER NAZI OCCUPATION, was given in a broadcast talk from London yesterday by a Danish resident, who spoke of the many hardships that the Danes were experiencing.

"If the Nazis expected the Danes to accept them as friends," he said, "they have been bitterly disappointed."

The speaker quoted extracts from a Swedish newspaper which declared that the invaders had not got closer to the real Denmark owing to the icy attitude of the Danes. The Germans had only revived a great deal of anti-German feeling in the country.

GERMANS VERY LONELY

The Germans in occupation were really very lonely, as the man-in-the-street always cut them. Another newspaper declared that these foreigners could threaten and frighten the Danes, but their resistance was insurmountable. The Danes wished to remain Danes.

All the evidence available went to show that the Germans had gained nothing in Denmark and a wave of intense patriotism had spread throughout the country. The invaders had promised that the occupation would not be of a military nature, but that promise, like all other promises made by the Germans, had been completely disregarded.

The speaker went on to describe the strict censorship that was imposed on foreign news. Herr Hitler and Signor Mussolini could not be called dictators. The Nazi war lords had deprived the Danish Parliament of its ablest members. They had even tried to remove the Prime Minister from office, but had failed.

KING CHRISTIAN

"King Christian has proved to be the strongest opponent of the Nazis," continued the speaker. "He is the true symbol of Danish nationality. He was never more respected by his fellow countrymen than after April 9 last year and he has spared his country many humiliations."

The speaker declared that the Parliamentary elections in the spring of 1939 showed the Danish attitude. The Nazis had only obtained three out of 140 seats in the Lower House.

The saddest chapter of the story was that when the Germans decided to occupy Denmark with military force, it was not only to gain control of important strategic positions at the entrance to the Baltic, but to secure for themselves Denmark's agricultural products.

A large part of Denmark's livestock had been killed and according to official figures, the production of milk had been reduced by 35 to 40 per cent.

Egg production was now only one-third of what it used to be. There were no stocks of butter in the country. Not only did the Germans refuse to pay cash for what they purchased, but they also refused to make payment in kind in the shape of fuel, war materials, etc. Danish credit in Berlin was therefore mounting up.

LIFEBOAT SERVICE HAS QUIET MONTH

LONDON, June 5 (BWS)—May has been the quietest month for lifeboat service since the war began. Boats were launched 50 times to vessels in distress and 27 lives were saved.

There were three times as many launches and twice as many lives saved as an average for May in the years of peace.

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION ASSOCIATION

To popularise vocational education among the Chinese in Hongkong, the National Association of Vocational Education is planning to establish a branch here shortly.

Talks in this regard, it is learned, were held here between Mr. Huang Yen-pai, founder and Chairman of the association, when he visited Hongkong about a month ago, and Mr. Chien, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Association, and other persons concerned. A preparatory committee was formed with Messrs. Huang Po-chiao, Wang Chin-hsin, Pan Niang-yao, Huang Ting-hui, Wu Han-chen and several others as members.

When established, the branch will set up vocational and primary schools in Hongkong and Kowloon, organise an Overseas Service Department to give advice and guidance to overseas Chinese returning to China and to assist them in finding employment and in making capital investments.

A Hongkong edition of the "State News," a periodical published by the Association, will also be published.

An initial fund of H.K.$30,000 has been tentatively fixed for the branch.

The Association was first established in Shanghai in 1917 with the purpose of spreading vocational education and improving agrarian life. In 1925, the Association established a library in Shanghai and in 1932, it started the publication of the "State News" which contained articles on China, character building, self-study and other subjects. More than 5,000 people have been benefited by the association during its 24 years of services.

Following the fall of Shanghai towards the end of 1937, the Association was removed to Chungking.

MAGISTRATE DETAINED

Lin Miao, magistrate of Puning, suspected of corruption during his term of office as magistrate of Loting, has been summoned to Shikwan by General Li Han-yun, Chairman of the Kwangtung Provincial Government, who after interrogation, ordered that he be detained and court-martialed. (Central News).

Round The Police Courts

AT CENTRAL

BOARDED CAR.

Alleged to have been found inside Mr. G. Merriman's car No. 2884 at Upper Albert Road, Ng Suk-kei, 23, unemployed, of no fixed abode, was charged with attempted larceny of motorcar fittings before Mr. Lowry yesterday.

Det.-Sgt. J. R. Byles said that on Tuesday at 2 p.m., defendant was seen by a houseboy of the St. Paul's College Hostel, outside which the car was parked, inside the vehicle. He was taken to Central Police Station, where he admitted having boarded the car with intent to steal.

Sentence of one month's hard labour was imposed.

ACCOUNTANT CHARGED

An accountant of the Central Meat and Dairy Supply Company, Fernando Antonio Ozorio, 33, of No. 112, Austin Road, second floor, appeared before Mr. G. T. Lowry yesterday on a charge accused of having fraudulently converted $660.97 of the firm's money.

It was alleged that he converted to his own use the sum entrusted to him by Mr. A. G. Dalziel, manager of the company, on Jan. 2 to pay to the Kau Kee Meat Store at Central Market to settle an account.

The case was remanded for defendant to engage a solicitor, bail being allowed at $1,000.

Det. Sub-Inspr. J. O'Donovan is in charge of the case.

INTIMIDATION CASE

Further evidence was recorded at the resumed hearing before Major Macfadyen yesterday of the intimidation charge against 12 persons, including six revenue officers and two women.

Defendants were Mo Kang, Senior Revenue Officer; Leung Ching, C. R. O. 77; Pau Chi-ying, C. R. O. 51; Ip Yuk, C. R. O. 160; Mo Yiu-kong, junior draughtsman; Mo Kwan-pok, draughtsman; Yu Yuk-lin, married woman; Lui Wai, shop master; Lai Yeung, shop master; and Li Lo-se, woman.

They were alleged to have threatened Chu Pak-yuen, 29, merchant, of No. 109, Des Voeux Road Central, third floor, with injury with intent to alarm him.

Mr. Alfred S. K. Lau assisted by Det.-Sgt. W. Summers, conducted the prosecution, while defendants, with the exception of the eleventh, who was defended by Mr. S. Ng Quinn, were represented by Mr. M. A. Silva.

Ho Lai-chan, the wife of complainant, in evidence yesterday, said that eighth and ninth defendants owed her $50. This money was given to her husband, who in turn handed it to eighth defendant.

Witness alleged that ninth defendant once told her: "If you want your money back, Mo Kang (first defendant) will give it to you. Mo is a chief detective, if you dare to collect the money from me."

The case was adjourned to today at 2.30 p.m.

POSSESSION OF DAGGERS

Two Filipino seamen were bound over by Major A. N. Macfadyen yesterday in the sum of $5 each to be of good behaviour for six months on a charge of unlawful possession of daggers.

Defendants were Carbo Tranquilina, 30, and Prigido Suhian, 25. Sub-Inspr. W. L. Clark said that on Wednesday at 8.20 p.m., defendants and two other Filipinos boarded bus No. 413 outside the Tai Koo Docks. They produced for payment of their carfare a $10 note, which was accepted and the change given back to them.

After the money had been pocketed by one of the men and the bus had gone for a considerable distance, they suddenly accused the conductor of paying them short and started an argument with the latter, during which first defendant was alleged to have brandished a dagger and passed it to second defendant.

The group was taken to the Police Station, where a second dagger was found on second defendant's person.

Asked why they had carried knives around, defendants replied that it was the custom in their country.

TRICK ALLEGED

At the continued hearing of the case in which two persons described as brothers, Wan Chi-wong, 31, and Li Ping, 37, are charged with attempted theft of 197 piculs of wolfram ore, valued at $3,000 by means of a trick from Hui Shing, accountant of Tung Shing Long Firm, Cheung Chau

Island, and with conspiracy, with others unknown, to defraud Hui of $13,000 Chinese currency, the latter charge was withdrawn by the prosecution with the permission of the Court.

The case is being heard before Mr. Lowry. Mr. C. A. Sutherland Russ appeared for the prosecution, assisted by Det.-Sgt. T. Cashman. First defendant was represented by Mr. J. D'Almada Remedios and second by Mr. F. C. Woo.

Further hearing was fixed for this afternoon at 2.30 p.m.

STOLEN 21 PENS

Sentence of six months' hard labour was imposed by Mr. Lowry yesterday on Chan Leung, 28, unemployed, for stealing from No. 16, Pottinger Street, ground floor, 21 fountain pens, two numbering machines and one knife, the property of Ma King-siu, on May 5.

Det.-Sgt. F. Nolan, who prosecuted, said that defendant was arrested on information on June 3, while the theft was committed on May 5.

UNREGISTERED FACTORY

The manager of the Central Meat and Dairy Supply Company, A. G. Dalziel, was fined $25 by Mr. Sheldon yesterday for opening and using the ground floor of No. 67, Hennessy Road as a factory on Apr. 18, such premises not having been registered under the Factories and Workshops Ordinance.

Mr. D. W. Phillips, Inspector of Factories, said that the place had been registered for last year. The certificate having nominally expired at the end of the year, two letters were sent to defendant informing him to renew it, but no reply was forthcoming to either one of the letters until a summons had been taken out against him.

Pleading guilty, defendant said that the factory had been closed down in December last and only a watchman was left there to watch the premises, and no letters addressed to him could reach him unless sent direct to the head office.

LARCENY BY SERVANT

A 25-year-old seaman, Chan Choi, was charged before Mr. Sheldon with larceny by servant of a tin of petrol, containing one gallon and valued at $1.80, from a His Majesty's ship, lying alongside the wall of the R.A.S.C. Camber.

Det.-Sgt. V. M. Morrison said that defendant, who had been working on board the ship for the last four years at $22.50 a month, was arrested by a watchman carrying a tin of petrol. When he was questioned, he admitted having stolen it from the boat on which he worked.

When asked why he had stolen the petrol, defendant replied that he was going to use it to kill white ants in his house in the country. Remarking that that was not a good excuse when defendant had been working for four years and getting a reasonable salary, Mr. Sheldon imposed on defendant a fine of $50 or one month's hard labour.

It was also stated that defendant was going to lose his job.

GAMBLING RAIDS

Thirty-six persons were alleged to be gambling "pai kau" on the roof of No. 528, Queen's Road West, when a Police party headed by Det.-Sgt. W. Summers conducted a raid on Wednesday night.

Before Mr. Sheldon yesterday, two of the men, Kwan Yip, 29, snuff, and Tang Choi, 24, stall, were charged with keeping a common gaming house. Both failed to appear and their bails of $50 each were estreated.

Of the 34 others charged with gambling, only 11 were present in Court. Four pleaded not guilty and were subsequently discharged. Seven were fined $1 each, while those absentees had their bails of $3 each estreated.

A total of $16.38 picked up was ordered to be donated to the Poor Box.

IN WESTERN MARKET

Eight men, charged with gambling "pai kau" inside the Western Market on Wednesday at 8 p.m., failed to turn up, their bails of $3 each being estreated.

Table money aggregating $4.38 was ordered to go to the Poor Box. The following were charged with keeping different common gaming houses for the purpose of "tam-tam" lottery at various addresses in the Colony on Wednesday.

Ko Sze, 31, widow, No. 25, Po Tak Street, first floor, failing to appear had her bail of $75 estreated.

Yu Shum, 17, unemployed, No. 9, Western Street, ground floor, who admitted one previous con-

FAMED KHYBER PASS

"The Key To India" Now Fully Guarded

Athwart the rugged Himalayas, the world's greatest mountain range, lies historic Khyber pass, north-west gateway to India. Many of the ancient conquerors led their columns through the long, narrow defile that forms the Khyber, to storm down on the plains of Peshawar and the famous cities of Lahore and Delhi. In modern times the strategic Khyber has been carefully guarded by British troops and fierce Afridi tribesmen, subsidized by the British and the only foe at all capable of and strategically placed for forcing passage through the mountains is Russia, beyond the Hindu Kush range to the north.

The Khyber has been the great military and trade gateway to India since the days of Alexander the Great. The pass proper begins near Jamrud, in India, 104 miles west of Peshawar, and winds through hills for about 35 miles in a north-westerly direction to the plains of Jelalabad, in Afghanistan. A railway and two motor roads now traverse the pass, which for centuries knew only camels and pack mules, and a heavy commercial traffic goes through daily.

Generally the morning hours are reserved for movement into Afghanistan and the afternoon for passage into India. All traffic must be out of the pass by nightfall, under British military regulations. Many fierce battles have been fought for the possession of the Khyber, and the natives say that every stone and foot of earth in the area has been drenched with human blood. At the southern mouth, on the dusty plains, is the old mud fort of Jamrud, defended by Hari Singh in 1937 in a sanguinary fight with invading Afghans under, Dost Mohammed. The British took the fort in the conquest of India, and it is now the headquarters of the Khyber rifles.

At Landi Khana, near the Afghanistan border, is a newly built fort, the most distant British outpost in India. Its guns dominate the gorge, 1,000 feet deep, leading to the south-east, and it could be held by few men against a strong body of troops, since, it would be difficult either to attack the fort or to prevent it from receiving supplies. The garrison at Landi Khana probably endures the worst living conditions in the world. In the summer it is unbearably hot, with the temperature 118 degrees in the shade. In the winter it is extremely cold. Besides this, the region is visited by heavy rains which have set a record of 41 inches of rainfall in a single day and 75 feet of rain in a year. Much of the year not even camels can endure the rigours of the pass and pack mules are used. The motor caravans and railroad are presumably open in all save the rainy seasons, but exact details concerning such operations in the pass are a military secret.

The best possibility for the reduction of the forts, a slim one, would be afforded by air. The Russians are said to have an air base at Tashkent, in Turkestan, a two-hour flight from the pass. Such planes would be forced to cross the Hindu Kush mountains to reach the Khyber and then manoeuvre among treacherous peaks to attack their objective. At the same time, should an air offensive be attempted, the British could send fighter planes from Lahore, only an hour and 20 minutes by air from the pass.

INDEPENDENT COUNTRY

Afghanistan is an independent country, having close relations with Persia, which in turn is friendly to the British. Probably if the Soviet did attempt a manoeuvre against India, British and native troops would pour through the Khyber into Afghanistan and more northward to take the Khawak pass in the Hindu Kush.

Prior to the outbreak of the current war the British could put 53,000 white and 181,000 native troops into the field in India, and in addition have 34,000 auxiliary troops, composed of British subjects residing in India, on immediate call. For further reserves they might call on an Indian territorial force of 27,000 and the independent armies of native princes, trained by British officers, totalling 45,000. The size of the British Royal Air Force detachment now in India, and the Royal Indian Air Force, is not presently known.

Military strategists still agree with Kipling that the romantic Khyber is the key to India. They doubt that it will be soon attacked.

GIRLS PLOUGH AMID BOMBS

LONDON.—Miss E. Margaret Smyth is the first member of the Land Army to gain an award. She is the organising secretary of the land girls of East Kent, and she has just been made an M.B.E.

It is due to her splendid work, says an official report, that land girls working in East Kent have maintained a steady discipline, even while under fire.

These girls, carrying on their work while air battles rage overhead, certainly deserve praise.

One group of girls hard at work ploughing with a motor-tractor did not hear the sound of German planes overhead.

The first indication they had was when shrapnel dropped around them.

But that is a fairly common experience for these girls. They never run for shelter until bombs fall near by.

None of these girls has asked for a transfer to more sheltered districts. So long as they have to work in the field.

"Dozens of bombs have fallen in the field where I work," said one girl, "and we've seen plenty of Germans crash. But bombs, bullets or shrapnel, it just isn't done to leave the job unfinished."

CHAINED BOYS LASHED IN ICY DUNGEON

DENVER.—Children in a reformatory school at Denver, Colorado, were chained naked in an icy dungeon and lashed with a padded leather strap and cat-o-nine-tails.

Some were made to wear a ball and chain, and others were kept in solitary confinement in leg-irons.

These horrors were revealed at an inquiry recently, when the authorities recommended the dismissal of thirty-five school officials.

"As bad as a concentration camp," was a common comment among Denver residents on learning the facts. Angry men threatened to beat up the school staff.

The dungeon torture chamber was in almost complete darkness when the doors were closed.

Investigator Carl Morse said boys were black and blue from neck to thighs from beatings. "I saw as many as twelve stripes two inches wide down their backs," he said.

Colonel Raymond Combs, stocky, red-haired principal, stuttered excuses as investigators fired questions at him. "Boys were strapped for disregarding orders," he said.

Two years ago the school was accused of immoral conditions.

MISSIONARY HELPS CHINESE BLIND SOLDIERS

Mr. Hermann Becker of the Famine Orphanages and Evangelistic Bands in Chihkiang, Hunan, who has been a missionary in China for over 30 years, is helping about 300 Chinese soldiers who have lost their eyesight to read and write. He has secured the services of two teachers to teach them the Mandarin Braille Union System.

Mr. Becker, care of the China Inland Mission, Chihkiang, Hunan, will be glad to receive any books which have been printed in Mandarin Braille Union System for use of the blind soldiers. (Central News).

Pastor Hall EXPOSE OF LIFE IN NAZI GERMANY

It is not often that the wife of the President of the United States of America recommends a picture but Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, in introducing "Pastor Hall" to the American public, said, "The story of Pastor Hall, of his undying faith, his unconquerable courage—is the story of all men who love freedom and justice so deeply that they are prepared to live eternally for their convictions. In such men is the hope of common humanity, the greatest hope for ourselves and our children."

The Hongkong cinema public will have an opportunity to judge for themselves on Sunday whether it is true or not that "Pastor Hall," the United Artists production, is all that has been said of it, for the management of the Oriental Theatre have secured the rights to present this picture for the first time in Hongkong at popular prices.

The writer was privileged to attend a preview of this picture and he came away with the impression that in "Pastor Hall" we have one of the most powerful productions ever to have come out of the film studios. Dealing with life in Nazi Germany, the picture tells of the horrors of the concentration camps, of the wickedness of the Gestapo and the Storm Troopers. Above all, however, it confirms the oft-asserted story that even in spite of all his villainousness, Adolf Hitler does not reign supreme in the Third Reich in that there are still men who dare have their own opinions and ideas of life. It also shows that such men are never allowed a long lease of freedom, that sooner or later the Gestapo catches up with them, with the inevitable ending.

Playing the part Pastor Hall, Wilfrid Lawson gives one of the most powerful pieces of acting we have seen in many a long day, and the supporting cast helps him to make "Pastor Hall" a picture that gives a true insight into the conditions in Germany under the power-hungry maniac, Adolf Hitler.

HOW BBC NEWS STORIES ARE RECORDED

The mobile unit was also sent from time to time to the R.A.F. headquarters for the use of a second BBC commentator there. The same equipment was used by one of the American broadcasting companies and by the French war correspondents attached to the B.E.F., and also for live broadcasts of the concert parties arranged by E.N.S.A.

NAZI TERRORISM IN GREECE

Hundreds Of Athens Citizens Arrested

CAIRO, June 5 (Reuter).—Ignoring German threats, the inhabitants of the Greek town of Levadia, 60 miles northwest of Athens, began unloading a goods train carrying supplies which had been seized in that area.

It is authoritative learned here that the German Police opened fire and killed and wounded many persons, including women and children.

Following this incident, the German Kommandatur ordered the shooting of anybody attempting to approach goods trains or warehouses.

Emergency measures have been decreed in Athens and hundreds of citizens are being sent to court martial there to receive the death penalty.

PREMIER'S MESSAGE

Utter confidence in final victory is expressed by the Greek Prime Minister, Dr. Emmanuel Tsouderos, in a message to the Greek people "because God and right are with us and Greece cannot die."

The message continues: "The struggle continues. At the side of our great Allies, Greek regiments, warships and aeroplanes are reorganising to fight the enemy wherever he may be in order to liberate Greece. One million Greeks scattered in the four corners of the world are collaborating with all their strength. Our one aim is to win. We shall win."

LOVE OR DUTY

Infatuated Officer Did Not Return

The sudden infatuation of a young "pleasure-loving" but "very gallant" officer for a girl he met while on embarkation leave was described at a court-martial at Truro.

The girl gave evidence on behalf of the accused officer.

Second-Lieut. Gerald Andrew Clark, 23.

He pleaded not guilty to the charge that, after having been warned to proceed overseas, he attempted to avoid so proceeding by absenting himself without leave.

The girl, whose name was not disclosed at the request of the defending officer, told the Court that she met Second-Lieut. Clark at Falmouth and they grew "terribly fond of each other." They went to London, and stayed as man and wife at the Cumberland Hotel for several days.

She knew he had to go back to duty, and they discussed it in London almost every day, but his attitude was that as long as they would stay in London he would stay with her.

Capt. Sir Shirley Worthington Evans, prosecuting, stated that Second-Lieut. Clark was granted embarkation leave from Jan. 28, and was due to report on Feb. 14, but he did not obey the order, and on March 5 he was arrested at his home, at Ivy House, Luton, Beds.

He submitted that Second-Lieut. Clark deliberately disobeyed the order so as to avoid service overseas.

Second-Lieut. Clark was described by his adjutant as being extremely cheerful when he spoke to him about overseas service, and he was looking forward to it.

Major A. A. Scott, defending, said it was not disputed that Second-Lieut. Clark was absent without leave, but he wished to disprove any intention to avoid embarkation.

SERIED IN FRANCE

During his absence he wore uniform, and stayed at an hotel in London, where he gave his correct name and title, and there was no attempt at concealment or disguise.

He stated that Second-Lieut. Clark was educated at the City of London School and University College, Oxford. In February, 1939, he enlisted in the Army in the ranks, and, shortly after the outbreak of war his unit was transferred to During May the unit accompanied the army to Brussels and beyond, then back to Lille, Arras, and Amiens. By this time, it had two sets of equipment at its disposal. Then came the rapid move to Boulogne, during which some of the equipment had to be abandoned at Amiens. The cables between Boulogne and London were still intact, and several despatches were given by BBC observers from Boulogne. After a few days, during which there was frequent bombing, the equipment was brought back to England.

Meanwhile, a second recording unit was with the Advanced Air Striking Force near Rheims; it was through this unit that many listeners at home first heard the sound of falling bombs. The enemy had been particularly active in this area for some time, and during one of the despatches from the R.A.F. a salvo of bombs dropped close to the open window of the studio.

CONVOY SEEN

Since their return these recording units have still been engaged in reporting incidents in the war. One of the most outstanding of these recordings was made on the cliffs of Dover. The unit had just taken up its stand there, when a convoy was seen steaming slowly up the Channel. Just as the convoy was passing the point where the recording car was stationed, German dive-bombers attacked it.

Anti-aircraft guns went into action, followed by squadrons of fighters. The recording of this action with the running commentary which accompanied it gave a realistic impression of the successful battle which ensued. The records were taken to London and broadcast in the nine o'clock news bulletin that same evening.

During another broadcast from "Hell-fire Corner" the recording unit was machine-gunned by a Messerschmitt; it suffered no damage and the German machine was brought down by anti-aircraft fire. It also recorded the shell-fire from the long-range guns installed by the Germans on the Channel coast when shells fell in Dover for the first time.

Meanwhile, the work of the mobile recording unit continues—bringing to listeners at home and overseas the sound and scenes of Great Britain at war.

THE END

GOVT. TAKES OVER "AMERICA"

WASHINGTON, June 5 (Reuter).—President Roosevelt has issued an executive order directing that an unspecified number of Coast Guard Officers and enlisted men be transferred to help operate certain naval vessels.

Meanwhile, the Maritime Commission has issued a list of 28 merchant vessels, including the liner America, which have been acquired for the Army and Navy.

France, where he remained until 1940.

In the following month he went to a cadet training college, and was gazetted. When granted embarkation leave he went to Falmouth for a few days, and there met the girl, of whom he grew very fond.

When he was on his way to return to London the girl decided to go with him, and they stayed at the Cumberland Hotel, registering as Mr. and Mrs. Clark.

The hotel bill came to £20 12s., and when the girl left to go back to Falmouth he was upset, and started drinking rather heavily. He put off from day to day doing anything about going back to his regiment. He spent his time in London just enjoying himself.

Major Scott described him as rather a pleasure-loving person who disregarded his duty when enjoying himself. He never showed any signs of disliking overseas service, and was now ashamed of himself.

(The president, Lieut.-Col. H. E. Bird, announced that the Court had no findings to declare, and Major Scott then said that as Second-Lieut. Clark had been found guilty of a very serious crime, he appealed that the punishment to be meted out to him should be as lenient as the Court could justifiably give in the circumstances.

PONTIFICAL MASS FOR PEOPLE OF U.K.

Striking Address By Archbishop Spellman

NEW YORK, June 5 (Reuter).—Many distinguished persons were present at Solemn Pontifical Mass at St. Patrick's Cathedral for the people of Britain.

Lord and Lady Halifax, Mr. Wendell Willkie, Governor Lehmann of New York State, Archbishop Otto, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kennedy were among those attending and also representatives of South Africa, Canada, Australia and India.

Archbishop Spellman, in the course of a striking address, said: "The Governments of man have strided into paganism, strayed the ten Commandments and bombed the Sermon on the Mount."

He also read a cable from Cardinal Hinsley thanking the American people for their help. Reverend Philip Furlong, President of the Cathedral College, New York, in the course of a sermon, said that the bombing of Westminster Abbey "produced in most Americans a special sense of injury."

The Anhwei branch of the San-Min-Chui (Three People's Principles) Youth Corps has launched a campaign for raising funds to purchase gliders for the Government. Every member is required to contribute at least $1.—(Central News).

SUPPLY BONDS SUBSCRIPTIONS CAMPAIGN

The N.C. $1,000,000 subscriptions campaign for the Chinese Military Supply Bonds, organized by Chinese, Christians in Hongkong, was formally launched at a ceremony held at the Chinese Merchants Club.

Those present included the captains of various solicitation units. Following a prayer conducted by Pastor Li Kou-yan, Mr. Lam Tse-fung, who presided, gave the opening speech. He enjoined his audience to spare no efforts in bringing the campaign to a successful conclusion. He reported that already N.C. $500,000 subscriptions had been realised and expressed the hope that the goal of N.C. $1,000,000 would not be difficult to attain.

Others who spoke included Sir Shouson Chow, who urged his audience to subscribe to as many bonds as possible. Aside from Christians, Chinese women, business, cultural and youth organisations in Hongkong have also started subscriptions campaigns for the Bonds. It is learned that the workers of the Commercial Press, Ltd., will contribute two days' salaries for the purchase of the Bonds.

SHELTER SWINDLE

MAN TOLD HE IS A
"PUBLIC DANGER"

For exploiting a scheme called "The Acton Deep Underground Shelter Association," an aircraft inspector was given a sentence of 18 months' hard labour at Middlesex Session recently.

He is Austin Gordon Lovell Pennock, 48, whom a jury, without retiring, found guilty on six charges of fraud on Acton residents.

Declaring that Pennock described himself as secretary of "The Acton Deep Shelter Association," Mr. Anthony Hawke, prosecuting, added: "A more accurate title would have been 'A scheme for the provision of a livelihood for Mr. Pennock'."

"There was never a shelter, but people were induced to pay money as subscriptions for the use of beds and accommodation in this non-existent shelter."

Giving evidence, Pennock said he made application to the Labour Exchange for Welsh miners and local labourers to carry out the work. He also applied to a local firm for tools, which were to be supplied when he got the money to pay.

A Mr. Hamilton promised to finance the scheme, but at the last minute wrote to say he had to go to Torquay.

"LOST LETTER" STORY

Deputy-chairman, Mr. J. H. Thorpe, K.C.: Have you got that letter?—Pennock: No, I have lost it. I found myself in an awkward position, for after that Mr. Hamilton was very careful to keep out of the limelight. It was a nasty blow, and I didn't know what to do.

Pennock stated that he gave up £8 a week to run the association. He collected £34 14s. 6d. and gave the subscriptions to Hamilton, who, he maintained, victimised him.

Det. Serg. Burney revealed that Pennock had five convictions.

In 1924 he was sentenced for fraudulently representing that the B.E.C. had bought a wireless invention of his for £40,000. Another conviction was for supplying cocaine.

Pennock was a native of Sheffield. Since his arrest many people complained they had given him money for the association.

Passing sentence, the deputy-chairman told Pennock: "You are a common swindler who chose as your victims people who have reason to be frightened and want protection from enemy attack. You are a public danger, and people must be protected."

NEW NAZI FIGHTERS SHOT DOWN

LONDON, June 5 (Reuter).—Two of Germany's latest Messerschmitt fighters, ME-109F, were shot down into the English Channel yesterday evening.

They were among a number which attempted to cross the Kent coast above the clouds but were tackled by cannon-firing Spitfires. One British fighter is missing.

The ME-109F is a development of last year's ME-109, the chief new feature being bigger engine power.

The Mercantile Marine Office, Entry and Clearance Office and Junk Office, Harbour Department, will only be open between 10 and 12 a.m. on June 12, it being a general holiday (H.M. the King's Birthday).

Share In Asia Claimed By U.S. & Britain

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Evidence of Anglo-American determination not to be eased out of the Far East by the Japanese is accumulating both here and in the Pacific.

Not only are the United States and Britain greatly strengthening their Far Eastern outposts, but their leading officials are also making it abundantly clear that neither the recent Russo-Japanese pact nor Allied reverses in the Balkans have done anything but reinforce the decision to stand firm in the Far East.

VERY SIGNIFICANT

It is thought significant that Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox in his address before the American Newspaper Publishers Association on Thursday dwelt particularly upon the Far Eastern menace despite the fact that Washington's attention is primarily directed toward the struggle in Europe. The Knox statements are believed to show that the early official reaction to the Russo-Japanese pact, whose importance Secretary of State Cordell Hull said should not be "overestimated," has now become more pessimistic.

WARNING TO JAPANESE

Australia's position vis-a-vis the Japanese menace was clearly stated late this week by Richard G. Casey, Australian Minister to the United States, who stated unequivocally that Australia and New Zealand would fight immediately and bitterly "if the dark forces of aggression venture to spread into the peaceful waters of the Pacific."

The process of materially strengthening America's position in the Philippine Islands has been going on unabated for some months now. Only this week 2,000 troops—said to be the largest number of American soldiers to reach the islands at any one time since the days following the Spanish-American War—were landed in the Philippines from an army transport.

The new troops join the already sizeable and seasoned force assembled there. Other evidences of American interest in its Philippine outpost is the number of the latest pursuit and bombing planes which it has sent out there since late last fall. At one time a batch of some 100 of the most modern pursuit ships, originally ordered by Sweden, were sent to the Islands.

GERMAN-AMERICAN BUND CLOSED

TRENTON, N.J., June 5 (Reuter)

—Four stormy years of waving swastika flags and shouting "Hell" at Camp Nordland came to an end on Wednesday with the sale of the camp and the surrender of the Charter of the German-American Bund in New Jersey.

The Bund's counsel revealed that the camp was sold for $23,500 to 217 individual mortgagees, and the Charter returned to the Secretary of the State a few hours after New Jersey State Legislature had passed a law repealing the Charter.

A floating mine drifting in the vicinity of Lat. 22 deg. 11' 30" N., long. 114 deg. 11' E. (Approx.) at a point 250 degrees distant 14 miles from Bluff Point (Taitan Peninsula) was sighted by a vessel at 6.30 a.m. on June 4, states a Harbour Office Notification.
